

VIXEN WILL PATROL

Central American Waters to Enforce Respect

FOR AMERICANS' RIGHTS

Will be Able to Get Next to Almost Any Situation.

New York, May 5.—A special from Washington says: Measures have been initiated by the navy department which contemplate providing constant protection for American interests in Central America. As a result of a consultation between Acting Secretary Allen and Rear Admiral Crowhams, instructions have been given to Rear Admiral Hichborn, chief constructor, to fit out the converted yacht Vixen for duty in Central American waters as expeditiously as possible. The Vixen's small draught will permit her to enter the shallow waters on the eastern coast of Central American countries so that the American flag will be constantly flying at Honduras and Nicaragua ports. The determination to send the Vixen to Central America is the result of the communications received at the state department from Americans in Honduras and Nicaragua. On account of their draught, the cruisers of the Detroit class are compelled to lie four or five miles out from shore, and even gunboats of the Maletta class, drawing only twelve feet, are unable to approach close to the town. The Vixen, drawing only eight feet six inches, will not encounter any difficulty in getting within close range of that or any other town on the Central American coast.

Washington, D. C., May 5.—An order has been made by the navy department for the immediate dispatch of the converted yacht Vixen to Honduras, Nicaragua. The Vixen is now a formidable light-frigate gunboat. She is at Norfolk fitting out for a cruise to the Philippines, via the Suez route. The order to Nicaragua will simply delay her arrival at Manila, for it is the intention of the navy department to replace her in Nicaragua waters by another gunboat as an emergency duty. It is said at the navy department that no advice of late date have been received from Bluefields tending to show the existence of a crisis there, and it is likely that the purpose of sending the Vixen is to replace the Detroit, which is too large and of too great draft to render the best service.

In answer to complaints by the government that its dispatches to and from Nicaragua, being intercepted and delayed, the state department has been informed that the trouble is that the land lines forming an essential part of the cable system have been overhauled in Nicaragua. The department has been dispatching, therefore, its orders and advice to and from Bluefields via Greyhound by means of boats, but the service that way has been found to be so slow and unreliable that the plan has been adopted of communicating by wireless with New Orleans, which involves only delay of two or three days.

The state of affairs in Bluefields, according to the latest reports to the state department, is not believed to be very critical. Mr. Merry, the United States minister, has reached the place from Managua, the capital, but he had not, at last accounts, received his instructions to guide him in the country. He is, however, an American merchant at Bluefields and the Nicaraguan government. He has been advised by cable that these instructions are on the way and he is awaiting their arrival before taking any further steps.

Meanwhile the government here is by no means clear as to the legal right of the United States to interfere in Bluefields to claim exemption from the payment of duties already paid to the insurgent leader Reyes, and the whole subject is now before the attorney general. It is probable that questions of fact will determine the issue, the principal point being the attitude of Reyes, whether they were unwilling to contribute to his tax-gatherers.

China's Powerful Sword

There is an ancient and dreadful sword in China. It gives to the man who wields it the power to cut off the head of any one he wishes without danger of punishment. All people flee from this sword as from a pestilence. It is the sword of the emperor, and it is the sword of the emperor's sword. This famous sword cures all forms of stomach trouble, beginning with constipation and ending with liver or kidney disease. It will be found in all drug stores, and it always cures.

TALE OF A NIGHT OF TERROR

How an Outlaw Hunt Near Tecumseh Failed of Results.

Guthrie O. T., May 5.—(Special).—The Tecumseh Republicans say: For several weeks past Sheriff Trumble and deputies have been trying to locate a gang of robbers and thieves, who are known to frequent different places in this county, and the officers had finally discovered that the robbers, or a part of the gang, at least, would be at Salina's house, two miles north of Tecumseh, on Wednesday night. A scouting party, consisting of Sheriff Trumble, Under Sheriff Ward, and Deputies Waldrup and Falwell went out to Salina's place on the evening for the purpose of locating the burglars, providing they did show up, and with the intention of returning to town for more help if they were found. Ward and Falwell stationed themselves near the gate leading into the place from the northeast. These positions were to be occupied until such time as either parties should discover anybody this up to be enter the gates, when the parties making such discovery were to notify their companions and they would guard the house until reinforcements could be gotten from town.

A light was shining from a front window in Salina's house, and about 11 or 12 o'clock a man came riding up the road from the direction of the house. The horses were not opened Salina's gate, went inside of the fence, where he tied his horse and proceeded to the house. The door was opened, and he was heard and then the door was closed. Ward and Falwell, who had seen this, supposed the fellow had come inside the house. They immediately started to notify Trumble and Waldrup of their discovery. They crossed the road and entered a pasture stony setting in their animals. In this pasture were several horses, which created a great deal of noise as they came. The officers crossed through the brush, and the officers finally got near their horse and turned to go out in the road. About this time a shot was fired at them from near the house, and a second later another shot came from another gun a little farther up the road. The officers were only armed with six-shooters, and they retreated into the brush. After collecting a little, Ward and Falwell concluded it was too much of a risk to attempt to get back to their horses, and they started

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not grip or nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—ed for town on foot. They had not gone very far until seven more shots were fired at them, but it was too late for good marksmanship, and the officers pulled on to town. In the meantime Trumble and Waldrup had heard the shooting and came down, but they were also fired at. The sheriff was also guarding the gate to prevent the robbers' escape, and it was daylight before the officers again met, at Trumble and Waldrup did not care to run against what appeared to be sure death. The robbers who came to town sent an army of deputies out there immediately upon their return, but an examination of the premises failed to locate any outlaws. Deputies Ward and Falwell recovered their horses and equipment, and Salina explained that he heard a noise among his horses during the night and thinking it was horse thieves, he had taken down his Winchester and fired a few shots in that direction.

NEWS OF THE BELGICA

Captain Cook, of the Expedition, Is Seen at Punta Arenas.

New York, May 5.—The steamship City, from South American ports brought into port today some news of Captain Adrian D. Gerlach's Belgica Antarctic exploring expedition. On March 12 the City put into Punta Arenas, a Chilean trading settlement on Terra del Fuego, in the Straits of Magellan, and while her skipper, Captain Thomas, was ashore, he met Dr. Cook, who was one of those in charge of the Belgica. Captain Cook said he had a most interesting voyage and might go on another expedition before returning to the United States. For seventy days the party was in total darkness. Two men were lost—overboard and one from sickness. The Belgica was stuck in ice for twelve days while exploring Alexander Land. Captain Thomas says that Dr. Cook did not know of the Spanish-American war until told of it by Captain Thomas, who left him a file of newspapers. Captain Thomas brought with him a letter to post to Miss Anna E. Forbes, Captain Cook's sweetheart. Miss Forbes died more than a year ago.

BEN MCLEAN ON TRIAL

Col. J. Giles Smith Defends Him in a Sensational Case.

Councilman Ben McLean was arrested yesterday by Policeman Tony Bruhn and commanded to appear at the police court at 9 o'clock in the afternoon. The arrest caused quite a sensation about the city, for no one could imagine any kind of a crime which Mr. McLean could be so heartless as to commit in a city of which he is one of the body of lawmakers. But Policeman Bruhn's eagle eye for trespassers and offenders is so keen that no man, great or small, escapes him. He is especially alive to the offenders against the bicycle ordinance, and yesterday while Mr. McLean was sailing along on the sidewalk Tony Bruhn jumped from behind a tree and nabbed the scorch and his wheel. The arrest was so sudden and yet so effective that Councilman McLean was dazed. The news of the arrest spread, and at the trial yesterday afternoon there was quite a crowd of citizens and officials present. Many went to show their sympathy and respect to Councilman McLean. Tony Bruhn was so overjoyed over his first catch that he slipped around and hung an American flag above the judge's chair. The prisoner was taken before the judge and Chief Jones informed the court as to the nature of the offense. Colonel J. Giles Smith, who is also a councilman and one of the most classic members of that body, was employed by Mr. McLean as counsel. Mr. Smith is a rapid and searching cross-examiner, and would have put the whole police force on the run, but he was at very great disadvantage by his client pleading guilty before Mr. Smith got into the case. Mr. Smith cross-examined Officer Bruhn.

"Mr. Bruhn, were you awake when you arrested Mr. McLean?"

"Yes, sir."

"How do you know?"

"Well, I got the man, any way."

"Are policemen usually awake when on their beat?"

"I don't know about that, I am."

"Can you prove that by Mr. McLean?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you see McLean on the sidewalk?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you see him riding on the walk?"

"No; I heard him and grabbed and got him in the pocket."

"Was there anything in the pocket?"

"No."

"Did you look?"

"Yes."

"Is it your instructions to examine the pockets of people you arrest?"

"It is the judge's instructions to examine pockets for as much as a dollar."

"Did you ever find a councilman with two dollars?"

"No."

"What do you do with this money—this two dollars?"

"Turn it over to the judge."

"Does he divvy?"

"Never has yet."

Here Judge Mitchell arose and fined both counsel and witness a dollar each for contempt, and ordered up cigars.

"Why did you arrest Mr. McLean?"

"For violating law."

"Isn't it a councilman's duty to wake up a policeman wherever he finds one asleep?"

"I wasn't asleep."

"Don't you think the councilman had a right to go up and see?"

"He must keep off the sidewalk."

"You say you didn't see him on the sidewalk?"

"Well, he was on the walk and on his wheel."

"What time was this, Mr. Bruhn?"

"Ten minutes of nine."

"How do you know?"

"Looked at my watch."

"Had you not your watch yet today?"

"Yes."

Here the crowd roared and Mr. Bruhn yelled: "No; I misunderstood you; I would it."

Mayor Ross, Chief Jones, Park Massey, Judge Mitchell, all queried the witness after an hour's cross-fire by Mr. Smith, after which Judge Mitchell fined the plaintiff a dollar on general principles and let him go.

STANLEY AND THE NEW CASE

New From Eureka Confer With the Governor.

A Toledo dispatch says: The New murder case and the recent strange developments in it were the subject of a conference yesterday between Governor Stanley, Assistant Attorney General West, W. P. Freeman, a special officer, Dr. T. W. Trushler of Fall River City, Dr. L. E. McDougall of Gulf, Greenwood county, Judge Granville Griffith of Eureka, and Attorney John Smith of Seneca. The purpose of these men was to discuss the case and to take some steps to force the prosecution of Frank Allgood for the murder of Joseph New, the night of October 21, 1887. Allgood, a convict in the Kansas penitentiary, has confessed recently that he and Frank Allgood and "Bill" Turner were the murderers of New. Allgood is in jail at Eureka.

A NEW

Digestive Principle.

The leading medical publications of the country have been giving much space of late to a new method for digesting starchy foods. From many articles we take a selection from the Medical Times, New York:

In these days of progress it is gratifying to know that cases of indigestion and indigestion which have so frequently baffled as can now be treated with a reasonable hope of success. For years we have been looking for a digestive (digestor) of starch more potent than that found in the malt extract. It remained for Mr. Takamizawa, a Japanese chemist, to discover one of remarkable power. In this product, Takamizawa, we have what the profession have long desired, and it is therefore not remarkable that many of the best men in the profession have investigated it and that the conclusion uniformly reached is that in cases of inability to digest starches we have in this ferment a reliable treatment.

Most of our food is starch—our vegetables are largely starch—potatoes, the stomach refused to digest starch, medicine has hitherto been powerless. Pepsin has been the backbone of all treatment of indigestion, excellent for meat foods but valueless for starch.

Kaskala Tablets are the only form in which this wonderful remedy is offered to the general public. We believe them a perfect remedy for indigestion and dyspepsia; they combine the nutritious elements of old treatments, with the new Japanese discovery.

THE P. L. ABBEY CO., Kalamazoo, Mich.

In Iola, Kan., on a charge of forgery. L. H. Johnson, county attorney of Greenwood county, refused to issue a warrant charging Allgood with the murder of New. James Shultz, the lawyer who defended Mrs. New and Dobbs, and acquired all of her property, amounting to $4,000, is making every effort to prevent a new trial for Mrs. New and Dobbs. The lawyers and others who have interested themselves in Mrs. New's case claim that County Attorney Johnson and Shultz want to keep Mrs. New and Dobbs in the penitentiary because their release might cause the return of the property of Mrs. New recovered by her.

W. P. Freeman told the governor yesterday of how he had sought to get a warrant charging Allgood with the murder and County Attorney Johnson had promptly refused to have it issued, and had threatened a justice of the peace who showed a disposition to issue it.

Attorney John Stowell told the governor of his efforts to get a new trial for Mrs. New and Dobbs. He said that Judge Shinn, who tried the case, seemed to be prejudiced against Mrs. New and Dobbs, and that the efforts to get a new trial, if followed along the usual channels, would probably fail.

Judge Granville Griffith, one of the leading men of Greenwood county, told the governor that he had accompanied Alvin Ballard to the New farm recently, and that Ballard drove straight to the farm unprompted, and when he got there went through all the details of the murder showing how it was done, without hesitation, and with such confidence in his every movement that it left no doubt in Judge Griffith's mind that Ballard was telling the truth. Judge Griffith said to the governor that he believed, and the best people of Greenwood county believed, that Mrs. New and Dobbs had been unjustly convicted and were entitled to a new trial, and that taxpayers there were demanding a new trial.

Dr. McConnell, of Neal, Greenwood county, told the governor that he lived in that part of the county where New was murdered, and the people there believed that Mrs. New and Dobbs were innocent. He said the people were demanding a new trial.

Dr. Trushler, of Fall River City, Greenwood county, related to the governor that Frank Allgood used to live in his neighborhood and that one Charles Bigler mysteriously disappeared and had never been seen after he went with Allgood to a lonely part of the county. He said the people there believed that Allgood murdered Bigler and murdered Joseph New.

Governor Stanley seemed deeply interested in these statements. He asked a great many questions, but he said he did not wish to move hastily in the matter for fear that a mistake might be made. He said it must not be forgotten that Mrs. New and Dobbs were convicted by a jury of twelve men, presumed to be good men and true, who heard all the evidence at the trial, and had then returned a verdict of conviction. Governor Stanley said, however, that if six or seven of the good, substantial citizens of Greenwood county would call on County Attorney Johnson and demand a warrant charging Allgood with the murder of New and the county attorney should then refuse, he would interest himself in the case.

BRILLIANT MRS. BISHOP

Great Soprano Set Cleveland, Ohio, to Wild Applause.

"The charity concert for the benefit of the Indian school, given last evening at Music hall in the presence of a large and appreciative audience. A program was presented which contained many good compositions of vocal and instrumental music. One of the singers, Mrs. Geneva Johnstone-Bishop, of Chicago, deserves to be mentioned first, since she may claim both the privilege of hospitality as a stranger in the city and the honor of being a great singer, with a voice without doubt, she introduced herself in her first number to the audience in such a manner as to captivate her hearers and secure their unanimous applause. Mrs. Bishop is a soprano of pure and brilliant quality, while her voice gives the effect of a powerful musical instrument. The turning of the best masters, refined musical taste and profound study of the art and vocal literature in the widest sense. Mrs. Bishop sang an Italian love song from Gabriella, by Pizzi, where she displayed her ample resources of bel canto and bravura. Less vigorous in character, yet and mezzo voice was Chambrasse's "Sleep, Little Rosebud, Sleep," a gem of the first order, brilliantly blended with softness to a whole never to be forgotten. The singer, who possesses a magnetic and engaging presence, succeeded very soon in fascinating the audience and reaping the laurels of the concert. Her selection as contributing to the cause of the Indian school from Massena's Le Cid, conceived and rendered in genuine Spanish style, rich in fire and spirit."—Cleveland Leader.

Mrs. Bishop is possessed of a voice of great range, power and sweetness, and her singing of bel canto as well as oratorio music is admirable. Her performance of the last night was exquisite.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Mrs. Geneva Johnstone-Bishop is one of the most excellent vocalists Cincinnati has heard for many a day. Her voice is rich and warm, of even scale and good compass, and her method is well matured, while her style is admirably dramatic, fervid but not straining beyond the confines of legitimate musical effect.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

"Madame Bishop, as 'labeled,' gave great satisfaction with her even rendition of songs that were artistically given, although evidently of too light a character for her voice, which was really capable of greater efforts, and it was not until she sang the aria from Massena's 'Le Cid' that her magnificent soprano had an opportunity to display its power and beauty. She has a clear, dramatic soprano of unusual purity, great range and volume. Under fine control, as the dramatic shading of the lighter music of songs of adieu evinced, it was delightful in the more dramatic song in which the voice had full scope to rise to its highest range and to its fullest volume. She sang as an empress 'Zimara,' by Donizetti, but the aria from 'Le Cid' was her best work."—Louisville Commercial.

BISHOP OF BURLINGTON.

His Words Will Inspire Faith to Try Paine's

Celery Compound.

Who will doubt the wonderful efficacy of Paine's celery compound in the face of the endorsement from the Bishop of Burlington?

Wells, Richardson & Co.

Gentlemen—I have been asked why I recommend Paine's celery compound, and I desire to put on record frankly my reasons for this endorsement, hoping that my words may inspire those readers who need health and strength, with faith to try Paine's celery compound and prove to themselves its worth.

At the Fanny Allen Hospital, an institution in which I am deeply interested, Paine's celery compound has been used successfully.

The Sisters of Mercy at Mount St. Mary's Academy on Mansfield Ave., rely upon Paine's celery compound as a tonic and strength-giver.

In my own household, one of the domestic has taken Paine's celery compound for liver trouble of long standing and says: "It has done more good than any other medicine."

Several priests have spoken to me in praise of this remedy, and I believe it has the confidence of my associates.

Even did I not know from personal observation of the worth of Paine's celery compound, I should feel like endorsing it for the simple reason that it is prepared by the Wells & Richardson Co., a firm whose members I have known for nearly a quarter of a century, and in whom I have perfect confidence.

Very truly, JOHN S. McHAUD.

Coadjutor Bishop of Burlington, Vt.

Paine's celery compound will make you well, and enable you to enjoy life.

The system, strengthened, purified and regulated by this greatest of remedies will resist all invasion of disease.

There is no household that can afford to be without it. Its powers have been ascertained by men and women in every walk of life by the weakness, the most famishing and by the healthy, but equally grateful.

Paine's celery compound is within the reach of every one. It is a simple matter to test its astonishing efficacy.

That is the source of much grief, the Fanny Allen Hospital at Burlington, and a church which is considered the finest in the state.

This kind of service to be of service to the people and the great dignity that breathes through every line of Bishop Paine's celery compound ought to leave no doubt in anyone's mind of the tremendous superiority of Paine's celery compound over all the remedies that have recently been claiming for attention.
